We are the Lord Kuthumi that steps forward to you on this auspicious day and we welcome you each heart that comes and we come beloved hearts in the company of many angelic beings of light, many of whom have come with you for you have brought them through your connection and we come also with a council of light with 22 enlightened masters. And these ones will hold the energy for you and as you breathe you will receive the light consciousness that they bring to you. Some of you work already closely with these ones but you are asked to open your hearts to them as we begin to share with you the consciousness that we bring into this space now into the sacred space of your hearts.

And we have come this day beloved hearts to speak to you of the times to come, for we understand that sits heavily within your hearts and minds and there is much that is spoken of this within the density of the realms where you sit, much prophecy of doom and gloom and indeed we watch as this affects you and your hearts react to that which is offered by the many. And we say to you beloved ones yes indeed you walk in times of change, times of deep evolution and growth for the heart of humanity. But do not fear beloved hearts for fear will only contract your heart. It will only diminish your light and challenge your resolve and cause you beloved ones to separate your connection to the whole, to the One Heart of God, we say.

In the times to come there will be seven gateways of light reopening through this realm and the first gateway through which you will walk will be on the time you will hold in your minds and your hearts of this passing year on the date of the 11th of November and you have all marked this day so dutifully in your diaries and indeed we say to you beloved hearts mark it into your hearts.

Mark it into your hearts. For it is a time beloved ones when the heart of humanity will be called to walk through the threshold of consciousness into the path of creation, from this day forward over the next 12 months. Stepping through this time for you have been walking the path of preparation, the path of learning and now you will walk the path of creation.

Many of you will be called to step into your mastery, to anchor missions of your soul, not to complete them beloved ones but to begin them. These are not the missions of your personality these are the missions of your soul and we call to you to awaken this connection deeply with your soul once more and to listen to this.

And you walk the path of creation you will be called to surrender your beloved mind, your beloved personality and to embrace the will of the Divine, to let go your fears for one cannot create in fear, for in fear one only reacts we say. For fear is not a creation of the divine heart it is a creation of your mind.

And indeed beloved hearts Mother Gaia will experience turbulence and change as the consciousness of divine will for the heart of God begins to anchor on this planet and this turbulence and change upon her surface beloved one is simply a reflection of the heart of humanity in resistance to walking the path of God, and embracing the divine will and wishing to continually control the will of God through the ego and the mind. And the more there is resistance the more this will be reflected by the Mother Gaia for she beloved ones is your teacher. She is the teacher of creation in this realm and you each one and all of humanity has come together to learn your mastery for she is already the master of this. It is not for you to teach her it is for her to teach you we say. And in the times to come the more that you step into your resistance the more that you will need her mastery for she will show you if you open your heart and are willing to learn the pure essence of creation, that which each one of you seeks in many places but yet not at the feet of the Master. And she is the Master that you seek we say.

And this will become for you in the times to come much more evident and those that have utilized their free will believing they are the Masters of creation and yet have not graduated from the school of Mother Gaia will be called to reflect on this and to see that their creations have been but copies not fully complete, not resolved and not aligned to the heart of the Divine Creator.

And so beloved ones many will need to come into the new understandings of creation, understanding the many levels of it through their multi-dimensional nature that will be uncovered as they walk through the Mastery of ????. By the Mother Gaia, surrendering all beliefs that hold them in separation learning to open their hearts and their minds to the potential of the Universal Mind.

To the potential of God. And as you walk this path of creation you will begin to reconnect with the codes of God that sit within you and begin beloved hearts through the assistance and support of your master teacher to learn that like a diamond each one of you has many facets and at this point most of you are working through one perhaps two but through the 144 facets of your divine nature. and this will be brought to you in the times to come.

And you may begin to understand that which you are, why you are in this place at this time and what you are creating and for all those that have committed in service to the light of that which you are, these ones that sit with us that listen to us from many places afar, that this mastery will be magnified for you, for you are the ones that will be the way showers that will offer the support in the times to come as the consciousness of the heart of humanity moves through its third evolutionary growth pattern to begin to open more of the facets that you hold within.

And we say to you beloved ones, it will not be time to sit and to believe this is complete for you for the heart of humanity will evolve through seven evolutionary growths in this realm coming into full God realization as a collective. And you may consider that this is not in your lifetime and indeed this will be so but we say to you beloved what is one lifetime for you have many, you are one being and you will continue to support and to bring your mastery to this, the wisdom that you have learnt to be the way showers in the times to come, we say.

So we ask you beloved ones to close not your hearts in fear, to bring not the doom and gloom to your lives, look at endings and completions but to look at the new beginnings and each and every new beginning brings with it its challenges, brings with it its time of preparation, time of learning. Yet the more that you surrender the more that you will allow the heart of your being to open to receive that which comes to you through the heart of humanity, the more that you will expand and receive the new energies that are anchoring in this realm each day, the new consciousness. So we say to you beloved ones in your own lives each day look to one thing you will learn to bring you closer to your own mastery for each day there is an opportunity and potential for you through the new consciousness that is magnifying this planet at this time, the new creation consciousness. And each day of your life in this time is offering you a potential, an opportunity to learn one new thing, to open to receive one new understanding, one new wisdom of consciousness within you, to expand your lower mind, to expand your heart, to expand your being. One thing beloved one each day is possible for you to assist you to grow and to evolve. It is there for you and it comes for you and you may receive it through the open heart or you may close your mind and close your heart to it to it and not receive it and not grow. For it is this one thing beloved one each day that will assist you to expand that which you are and to evolve in the coming times.

For some of you you may receive if you open your hearts a grand awakening as the light floods through you and as this occurs open your minds and your hearts to receive it. Let go your beliefs, let go all limitations, let go your programs and open your consciousness, we say, for it is only this that will create your expansion.

And this one thing beloved ones, if it is for you one thing each that will come to you in many guises– through another being, through a soul that comes to touch you in some way, through a soul that comes to challenge you, through an event in your life, it will come we say. Open your hearts to it, surrender to it, let go your resistance and allow the energy of creation to expand within you for it is the energy of the One Heart of God that comes to bless you, to embrace you. And when you are met by challenges call to your teacher, to call and sit with the Mother Gaia, to pray to her and ask her for assistance or her wisdom and her knowledge to fill you that you may have clarity through the Earth realms beloved ones where you sit at this time.

It is a place beloved ones in this Universe of pivotal importance and it is one beloved one you as a collective are present learning to open to the heat of creation the heart of God within your being and to manifest this into the physical presence and where you see challenges, struggles and difficulties give thanks for these and allow yourself to surrender them. Let go your consider desire for more believing that have less and you always need more, let this go we say. Let go your belief that you are separate or that you are less and that you need more for this will be your distraction, complete distraction we say. It will distract you from the path ahead and you will spend your time seeking more and more and yet not seeing that which you are, not being that which you are, unable to sit within your heart in Oneness through your distraction and your focus on the more. Let go the more beloved one and it is the Mother Gaia that will share this with you and that will offer to you this mastery for whenever you see less your heart is closed. It is only when you see that you are whole and that you are one with all that the creation flow of God will flow through you in all things in your life and we say to you in the times to come that will be your greatest key. Use it well beloved ones, use it well we say.

ACTIVATION

And as you breathe now each one of you Mother Gaia will begin to send to you her long light and embrace to support and to nurture you. Open your hearts to this beloved ones to receive this now through your feet and through your being. Allow it to flow into your bodies feeling the creation energy of her heart, the power of light that she holds within her and open to receive it now. And as you open to receive it you will also receive her love, it is the gentle embrace that she holds of you, each one. She calls to you beloved hearts to tell you that each one of you are creator beings, each one and in each moment of your life in your reality you are creating that which are and that which you are experiencing that which is your reality. And that reality beloved hearts will be different for each one of you. Yet as you create it she embraces you, nurtures you and regenerates the creation energy within you. And if you listen beloved heart and if you watch connecting with her heart and seeing the creations of her that she offers so lovingly to support you in every moment of your existence you will receive from her this loving support and you will understand the cycle of creation – the giving and the receiving – that she offers to you. And you will receive this in your life understanding the flow of creation in your life and you breathe and receive this from her now and know that you are held within her heart.

And as you breathe now beloved hearts deeply within your being, deeply into the heart of Mother Gaia, three masters of light will come to you. They will touch you on your back heart, on your crown and bless your feet. The Masters that touches now your crown offers to you a blessing of light from the heart of God, to breathe and to receive it within your being.

And the master that steps to you and places the hands upon your back heart offers a blessing of receptivity to you that you may receive beloved one the support that you need, the love that you need, the wisdom and the guidance that you need and that you may open your heart to receive this for it is there for each one of you. But it is for you to open your hearts to receive it now and to let go all limitations, all seals, all that you have placed on your heart that limits you from receiving that which you need to step forward into your Mastery. And through their consciousness of love they bless this for you now that your gateway of receptivity may open to divine will through the heart of God and the heart of Mother Gaia and to all beings that come to support, you and nurture you and to assist you. And you are asked yet to breathe this into your being now.

And as you breathe the master comes now to your feet placing their hands and their consciousness of love upon your feet now. And the prayer that they offer for your feet is that you may walk upon the path of light in open consciousness, that you may open your arms and embrace all that comes to you in loving embrace, that you may step one step at a time in awakened consciousness receiving the wisdom of each step that you are guided to make through divine will and that when you are ready you may step into your Mastery walking in the mystery of the heart of God in awakened consciousness. And this is the blessing that they offer to you this day through your feet beloved hearts and if you choose to accept this and to breathe it in and to embrace it with open arms and allow it to you illuminate you enlighten you.

December 25th

And in the times to come beloved ones as you walk upon your path we say to you that time of the changing over of your years that is to come, the time that you celebrate in many regions on your planet the birth of Yeshua, that the tie of the changing to the moon from dark to light, on this day focus your hearts on Unity Consciousness within your being. Bring beloved ones your awakened consciousness to create union within your heart with all beings. Sit together and embrace one another, open your hearts and choose not to see your differences but to see your light reflected and embrace it.

Open your hearts and choose to se beloved ones that you are all one together walking this path together and it is only through this co-creation working in harmony and embrace that you will discover your truth and open to it in self realization as the collective. On this day beloved ones bring your heart to God and be the God that you are within, we say.

April 15th

And in the times to come on the day of the 15th in the month of April beloved ones, you will be called each one to question your creations, to question within your hearts the light that you are. And on this day beloved ones you will be called to embrace your divine truths within and to make this your reality. It is a day when many light workers will step fully into their divine mission if they have not already begun it or they will step away. It is a day for questions and yet beloved hearts it is a day for fulfilment, for when the questions open the heart the light may step within and fill you. It is a day to look at al your creations to see if they are in balance or imbalance, we say. And if they are not aligned and balanced beloved ones you will be called to bring them into alignment or to let them go. It is a day when your dreams will be questioned and you will be called to look at your dreaming and to embrace that which is in alignment to divine will and to let go that which is not. We say to you beloved hearts do this consciously in conscious awakening for it will bring much wisdom to your mastery and to all that you create in the times to come.

And so beloved heart, be conscious in all your creations over the next six months of your time. Embrace your mastery we say and call to your master teacher (Mother Gaia) to guide you and to offer you the wisdom. If you do not hear that which she speaks look around you for she speaks to you within all that is around you. If you do not feel beloved ones that which she offers to you reach out and touch that which sits within the physical plane upon the Earth in her enlightenment for it is her creation. If you do not sense beloved ones open your heart and listen to the sounds of her creations for they are all around you. And know that you are blessed in each and every moment. Receive your mastery and give thanks in each and every moment for that which you have received. Walk your path in gratitude and love and you will be that which you are. We bless you each one of you in the heart of hearts, in the light of light we bless you. We embrace you with the heart of our consciousness for we are one with you. Namaste to you.
